Northeast Radiology (NERAD) - operates seven free-standing imaging centers in the New York, Connecticut area, supporting several area hospitals and numerous referring physicians.

Like other imaging centers and hospital radiology departments, NERAD was frustrated with its inability to move radiology images between locations. Being forced, instead, to move radiologists. Wasting valuable time and increasing job frustration for the radiologist.

NERAD called on AMSYS, INC. to help.

The solutions developed by AMSYS, INC. bridged the technology gap, allowing quick and easy flow of images within site, from center to center, and from center to referring physician, all at an affordable price.

The quality and vision of the talented people at NERAD, combined with the technological advances provided by AMSYS, INC. helped NERAD achieve a high standard of service to their clients and community.

Their efforts have been recognized by the editors of Health Imaging & IT magazine, which recently named Northeast Radiology as one of the nations top five specialty facilities.

“CoActiv EXAM-PACS™ technology has actually allowed us, for the first time, to easily bring images to the radiologists ... rather than having to bring the radiologists to the images. We now do this quickly, efficiently, seamlessly, inexpensively and without hassle or inconvenience for the doctors.”

- Scott Nadel, MD; President of Northeast Radiology

An excerpt from Health Imaging & IT Magazine:

“When Scott Nadel, M.D., NERAD'S president, needed a solutions for remote image viewing, he turned to AMSYS to develop a cost-effective teleradiology solutions.”

“Working with Nadel to meet his rigorous requirements, AMSYS created an electronic push process that automatically dispatches images, reports and other patient information to the desktops of referring clinicians.”
