

This comprehensive feature integrates a one-stop radiologist dashboard into the popular and robust EXAM-RIS system. This new Task Center provides a single screen where radiologists may perform all of their tasks, such as:

- Viewing the procedures they are required to perform for any given day
- Viewing the schedule of all procedures and visits for the day
- Viewing, editing, and signing off transcribed reports
- Viewing a list of completed exams that are waiting to be read
- Allows the radiologist to sync up auxiliary systems, such as a PACS system and/or dictation system on the displayed patient's record. This allows all systems to display the selected patient's current information
- Accessing patient visit history, current visit detail record, or schedule detail record and all previous transcribed reports for any given patients

The Radiologist Task Center provides four tabs. The To Be Approved tab allows radiologists to easily view, edit, and approve the transcription reports in the system. The new Task Center streamlines the previous radiologist sign-off process, reducing the time it takes for the physicians to complete the necessary actions in the system.

Daily Schedule

To view the schedule of any day in the department, radiologists need only to select the Daily Schedule tab and enter the desired date. They may view the details of the exam, view patient history or select to view only the incomplete exams.

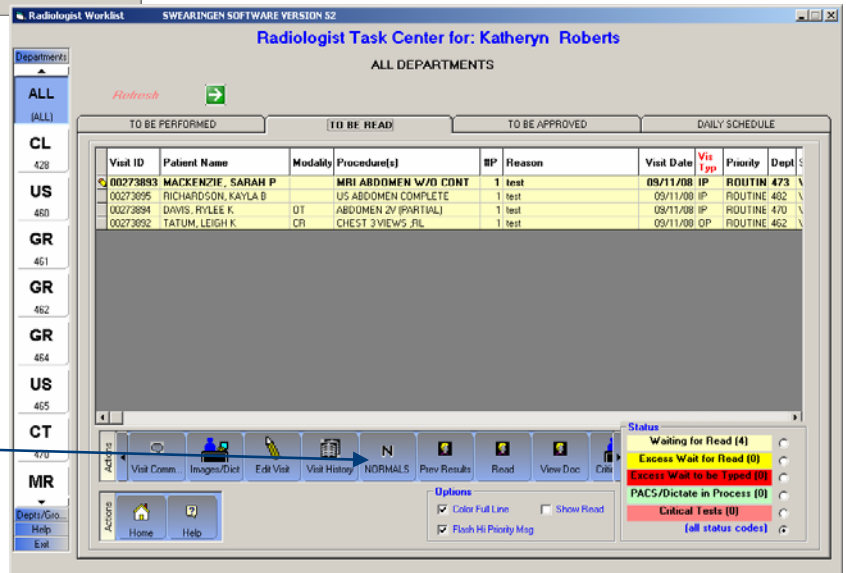

To Be Performed

This tab enables radiologists to view the exams that need to be performed for the specified day that require a radiologist. Users may also view exam details, patient history, and view other departments in the facility.

To Be Read

This tab allows radiologists to view a list of completed exams that are waiting to be read. These records will appear when the technician has completed the exam.

The Normals button allows radiologists to create a transcription report using the Normals boilerplate in the system. This expedites the Radiologist Sign-Off process and eliminates the need for a third party to transcribe the report when the findings are typical.
